October 9-15, 2005, is National Fire Prevention Week. October 9 is the 134th anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire. The Fire destroyed 17,450 buildings in 27 hours and took 300 lives. Just the night before, one of the worst recorded fires in North American history raged through northeastern Wisconsin and northwestern Michigan, taking an estimated 1,200 lives and destroying millions of dollars worth of property and timberland.

In 1925, President Calvin Coolidge declared the week that contains October 9 will henceforth be called Fire Prevention Week as a reminder of the importance of fire safety.

Coolidge noted that in the previous year some 15,000 lives were lost to fire in the U.S. Calling the loss "starting," the President's proclamation stated, "This waste results from the conditions which justify a sense of shame and horror; for the greater part of it could and ought to be prevented. It is highly desirable that every effort be made to reform the conditions which have made possible so vast a destruction of the national wealth.

October is also a good time to sweep the Chimney. With winter on it's way and warm fires to heat our homes. Seldovia Village Tribe has Chimney brushes available for use. Contact Alix Chartier at the SVT offices, (907) 234-7898 ext. 225.

ATC's Marketing & Project

Director, Rose McInnes.

Rose was born in Homer and raised here in Seldovia. In high school she became interested in the hospitality industry after working initially for Annie McKenzie in her hotel and then attending a work to school program at The Millenium Hotel (formerly the Clarion) in Anchorage. She went on to get her Bachelor's degree from Northern Arizona University's School of Hotel and Restaurant Management. After college, Rose worked as a manager in 4 and 5 star resorts across the country. The Maxwell House Hotel in Tennessee, The Scottsdale Princess Resort, The Arizona Biltmore, and The Regal McCormick Ranch Resort are among them. In 1997, she returned from Arizona and helped open and manage a cafe in Anchorage. Her menu and the cafe were written up in The Anchorage Daily News and received the highest food critique rating possible. After a successful year of operation she returned to resorts where she worked in management in one of Arizona's largest banquet facilities. Shortly after the birth of her first son Samuel, Rose and her family moved to California where she was hired to work in the Human Resources Department of a Biotech company employing over 5,000 people world wide. She rose quickly through the company and went from managing the Benefit call center to working on yearly benefits renewals. At the end of her tenure with the company she was working on international stock and stock option compliance issues for the companies employees and executives. In 2004, she returned to Seldovia with her family and worked in various positions supporting the community before becoming a manager at The Boardwalk Hotel. In August of this year, she was able to join the SVT team as the Marketing & Project Director.

Alaska Tribal Cache

The summer has come and gone and the berry season is over. It was not a very good year for blueberries and salmonberries. We had a few salmonberries come in, no blueberries. We did get a fair amount of watermelonberries and hi-bush cranberries in. Hoping for a better berry season this coming year.

We've just returned from the Make It Alaska Show at the Sullivan Arena, it was a very good show. We are looking forward to going to the Holiday Food & Gift Show Nov. 10th, 11th, and 12th at the Sullivan Arena. We will have new products at this show, a Low-bush Cranberry sauce and a Fireweed Pepper Jelly. As we look forward to the Holiday Season and our new products. If anyone has any suggestions for what they would like to see in the Gift Store for the Christmas Holiday, please Contact:

Environmental Office Recycling Tip

Here is an idea to reduce the amount of batteries that go into the landfill or go out on the Hazardous Waste Barge in the fall. Batteries contain heavy metals such as mercury, lead, cadmium, and nickel, which can contaminate the environment when batteries are improperly disposed of. When incinerated, certain metals might be released into the air or can concentrate in the ash produced by the combustion process. One way to reduce the number of batteries in the waste stream is to purchase rechargeable batteries. Nearly one in five dry-cell batteries purchased in the United States is rechargeable. Over its useful life, each rechargeable battery may substitute for hundreds of single-use batteries. Rechargeable batteries usually cost more to buy them but if you shop around you can find some inexpensive batteries and chargers or you can buy them separate and just buy what you need. Having two sets of batteries is nice because you can always have one set on the charger at all times if you go through batteries quickly.

Seldovia Village Tribe's ICWA department is looking for interested families to become licensed in foster care. Whether you live in Florida all the way to Alaska, tribal children may need your help.

Resource Families can be foster, adoptive, guardian or relative caretakers who provide a safe place for children during a very difficult time. By becoming a licensed foster parent, you make your home available for children who come into state custody or Tribal custody. That is a gift to your community as well as to the child in your care.

Who are the Children who may need your care?

It may be a child you know, a child in your family, or a child in your community. There are some common reasons why children come into care and need your help to remain in your community:

* Physical Abuse: Some children come into foster care because they have been physically hurt by people who care for them.

* Sexual Abuse: Some have been sexually abused or molested by people in their lives and cannot be protected by their parents.

* Neglect: Other children are not receiving basic food, shelter, supervision or medical care from their caregivers.

* Abandonment: Other children are abandoned by their caregivers.

* Alcohol Related Conditions: Some children are exposed to drugs and alcohol pre-naturally which results in behavioral problems and medical needs. Some children are hurt or neglected because parents are addicted to drugs and alcohol.

Please contact Paula Elvsass, ICWA worker in Seldovia @ (907) 234-7859.
